This was made for my sweet niece who has been hospitalized since last Friday, and has been diagnosed with Chronis disease, at the young age of 16. She is still not out of the woods and is still in the hospital. She loves anything to do with Disney...and my 16 year old daughter is really close to her, too. So she really knows her likes and dislikes...so this is what I came up with for her. I hope it cheers her up some, and makes her day just a little better. Till she receives it, I can not post it on my blog, so if you want more details, you will have to visit later this week. Thanks for looking and I hope you have a great day!
