This is a wreath that I made for July 4th. Our daughter was born on the 4th so I do a lot of decorating for that special day. Sorry that it has taken me so long to get this on here.

CRICUT®: WHAT WAS USED

Gypsy™ handheld

OTHER MATERIALS NEEDED

- 10 inch styrofoam wreath
- Floral pins...1.58 inch

Card stock

STFP 1

Start with a 10 inch Styrofoam wreath. I purchased mine at Joann's.

STEP 2

I used three different colors of Stampin' Up's cardstock. LOVE their card stock. The colors I used are, Very Vanilla, Night of Nawy and Cherry Cobbler. I think that these colors gave it more of a vintage/aged look.

STFP 3

Using the Art Philosophy cartridge I cut out 100-125 flowers from page 68. I cut the flowers at 3.5 inches.

STFP 4

Making the flowers takes the most time of all. Very time consuming. I found that using my hot glue gun to make these was so much better/faster than using glue. I first tried Aleen's quick dry Tacky Glue and hated it. Took way too long to dry. The hot glue gun was instant. Just be careful not to get burned. I attached the flowers to the wreath using floral pins that were 1.58 inches long. I found these at Walmart. These were the shortest ones that I could find. I was afraid that any longer would stick out the back side of the wreath.

STEP 5

Next for the background I cut a 10.75 circle from the George cartridge on Very Vanilla cardstock from SU. The George cartridge is great for different shapes.

STEP 6

Using the "AChild's Year" cartridge I cut out my image. I did not write down the size of this when I cut it so am not sure of the size. Sorry. I had a hard time deciding on the image due to this cartridge having different options. I cut this out using the Night of Nawy card stock.

STFP 7

I attached a ribbon on the back for hanging it. I just wrapped it around the styrofoam hiding it under the flowers.
