I wanted to doll up my ladder back chairs in our dining room. It took about 2 hrs from start to finish....with drying time!!!

CRICUT®: WHAT WAS USED

Old West Cartridge

Cricut Expression® Machine

OTHER MATERIALS NEEDED

Cardboard

paint brush

cardstock

string of faux pearls

seam binding and/or ribbon

white gesso

doolollies (buttons clothes pins etc..)

border punch of your choice

fabric

STEP 1

I started with a cardboard box. I ripped it open and cut 4 triangles for the banners. I distressed the triangles by ripping some of the smooth paper off to reveal the corrugated paper underneath. I then used white gesso and scrubbed some on hap-hazardly. Let it dry and meanwhile I used my Expression and the Old West cartridge and cut out the letters. Black shadow and patterned DSP was cut at 4-1/4" Used some dimensionals and placed them on the center of the triangles. I torn a piece of a patterned velum and adhered it with clear glue. Glued down a white button and also a small white clothes pin. Then using a border punch and white card stock I made the scallop edges. Then using a hot glue gun I adhered some pearl strings around the edges and left long tails at the bottom. Then I ripped some fabric strips and used some white and black seam binding and tied it around the tails of the pearls to make a faux tassel. Added some more torn fabric to the top corners for hanging.
